accurate distribution of all mail addressed in care of the Indiana building. The equipment cost $1,400.

OTHER FEATURES OF THE BUILDING. Opposite this room is one of similar size, and intended, perhaps, more especially for ladies, though the other sex is not excluded. It is more attractively furnished than the general rooms, having a handsome walnut cabipet piano of the George P. Bent, Chicago, make, a donation, and a very handsome center table of cherry, which was given by the Tourist, the Woman's, the Aftermath and the Columbia clubs, of Frankfort. A silver plate in the polished top discloses by whom given. There is also a cabinet organ of handsome appearance on this floor, the donation of the Fort Wayne Organ Company. Climbing the broad stairway leading up from either end of this transverse hall, the visitor lands in a similar hall, with doors opening into the reading room. Here are tables containing Indiana papers, do-nated by their publishers, and in the cen-ter is a large bookease containing copies of Indiana works. This room is not as much frequented as others, for people do not come to the fair to read home papers. The chief furnishing of this room is a large pressed-brick mantel, worth $490, and donated by the Hydraulic Pressed Brick Company, at Porter.

On the opposite side of this ball are various rooms designed for the use of Executive Commissioner Havens and assistants, and also for the "woman's comidents Hendricks and Colfax, and the father and mother of President Clem Stude-baker. There will also be a display of china painted by Mrs. Harrison. The following list of works of art will also be hung ou the walls:

Drawings in Charcoal-"Old Woman's Head," Miss Olive Rush, Fairmount; "Rower leaning on Oar," Head, autique, Miss Jennie Garrigus, Manchester; "Autumn Cornfield," Fletcher avenue, Indianapolis, Mr. W. A. Forsyth; "Evening on White River."

Works in Oil-"Study of a Hat;" "May," Miss L. M. Ketcham, Indianapolis; "Morning on the Coast of Maine;" "Barnyard;" "Landscape," Miss Alice Wood, Indianapolis; "Shinnecock Hills;" "Still Life" and sketches, Miss Mary Y. Robinson, Indianapolis. Four pictures from T. C.

Werk on China-Pitcher and ware, Mrs. John Julian. Indianapolis: pitcher and jardiniere. Mrs-Eva Lemon Clarke; pieces from Miss Emma Ireland, Warsaw. There are ten persons employed in the management and care of the Indiana Building. Mr. Joseph M. Briceland is the chief clerk, and Mr. Clarence C. Thomas is also a clerk. The matron is Miss Franc Smith, of Eikhart. Others employed are Miss Lizzie Brewster, of Terre Haute; Mr. and Mrs. William Horner, of Lafayette; W. G. Starky, of Ellettaville; Thomas O'Rourke, of Fort Wayne, and H. E. Anderson, of Indianapolis.

The programme for the dedication includes speeches in the delivery of the keys from the executive commissioner to Mr. Studebaker as president of the board; he will tender them to the Governor, and the Governor will tender them to the custodian of the building. Mrs. Meredith will also mittee." This latter apartment is handsomely furnished with an inlaid table, chairs, a bookcase and a richly polished piano, the donation of the James M. Starr Company, of Richmond. The table is unique. The maker says of it:

To those who may be curious to know the history of the making, structure and the time consumed in the construction of this stand the following facts concerning it may be of interest: The designer and maker is Mr. Thomas M. Minear, of Claypool, Kosciusko county, Indiana; the design was matured about two years ago, and the whole time employed in the construc-tion of it in actual steady labor as men work by the day falls very little, if any, short of a year. It is composed of twenty four kinds of wood, all native of Indiana, in the neighborhood of the maker's home. These woods by name are as follows: Walnut, butternut, red cedar, chestnut, cherry, shoemake, papaw, mulberry, poplar, oak, hard maple, beech, hickory, ash, elm, yellow pine, tamarack, ironwood, dogwood, sassafras, linn, aspen, horse chestnut and sycamore. Counting only the pieces that show, the stand contains 4.087 pieces, exclusive of the quill columns, of which latter there are 168, all told. There is no painting or touching up of the parts to give them color, nothing but yarnish has been used to bring out the natural color or tints of the wood, just as nature made them.

The bookease is richly carved in cherry by Mrs. Matthews, of Arlington, mother of the sculptress, whose work has been mentioned. She is over seventy years of age, and the carving is remarkable for the skill shown, as well as the strength required. There are other articles of furniture, the donation of the Blanchard company and the Shelby ville Cabinet Company, both of Shelby ville.

The third floor has a large apartment set with tables and chairs. Here is where the handreds of people meet to eat the lunch which the stories of high prices induced them to bring with them. The rear of this floor is occupied with living rooms for those employed about the building. A stairway leads to the towers from which a beautiful view of the grounds and of the lake can be caught. The towers enable one to overlook the entire building, whose roof bears a very red tint, the stain having been donated by the E. A. Brown Stein and Roof Paint Company.

The plumbing of the building is perfect and provides every convenience. The fixtures, worth $1,700, were loaned by the Smith & Anthony Company, of Chicago. So much cannot be said of the electric light. As yet the building is unlighted, necessitating closing at dusk; but the necessary wiring is expected to be finished tomorrow, when five hundred incandescents will glow. The building is connected with the telephone service of the grounds and

The building is furnished with plate glass, loaned by the Diamond Plate-glass Company, of Kokomo, the only cost to the State being 15 per cent. of its value of $4,000. The stone towers represent a value of $5,000, and cost the State only $1,200, the companies donating the remainder. These were the Terre Haute stone works, Stinesville and Bloomington Stone Company, Ellettsville Stone Company and Indiana Oolitie Stone Company, and the Redford Stone Quarries Company. Other donors of articles and furnishings, secured by personal solicitation of Mr. Havens, were as

The total cost of the building, including value of donations, was about $60,000. The dedication day will see the building further embellished. IT ISN'T IN THE ORDINARY WAY that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes to the weak and suffering woman who needs it. It's guaranteed. Not with words merely; any medicine can make claims and promises. What is done with the "Favorite Prescription" is this: if it fails to benefit or cure, in any case, your money is returned. Can you ask any better proof that a medicine will do what it promises? It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and a certain remedy for the ills and ailments that beset a woman. In "female complaint" of every kind, periodical pains, internal inflam-mation or ulceration, bearing-down sensations, and all chronic weaknesses and irregularities, it is a positive and complete

EULALIA'S LAST VISIT.

She Bids the World's Fair Good-Bye After

Inspecting the Spanish Exibits. CHICAGO, June 13.—Robed in a costume of great beauty Infanta Eulalia visited the exposition to-day for the last time, in company with the Prince of Orleans. The Princess was transferred from the yacht to Director-general Davis's launch, which took her to the Cafe Marine, in the foreign department. There the party lessurely enjoyed a luncheon in the private dining room, and then journeyed in chairs to the Fine Arts Building. The Spanish commissioner of fine arts received the royal party, and escorted the Princess through the Spanish salons. Half an hour was spent admiring the works of art, and a brief visit was paid to other salons. At the landing place on the south side of the Fine Arts Building the party embarked on the launch of the Director-general, and were taken to the east landing of the Agricultural Hall. The Princess sought to evade the crowds she saw at the north entrance, but she ran into one inside the building around the roped-off entrance to the Spanish, Cuban and Porto Rico pavilions, which are built in imitation of the Monastery of St. Gregory, at Valladolid, Spain. At the entrance to the pavilion the Infanta was met by Rosedo Fernandex, representing the Chamber of Commerce of Havana, who presented her with a gorgeous bouquet of flowers adorned with ribbons of the Spanish colors. After passing by the elaborate show cases filled with cigars, sugar cordials, wines and other products, the Infanta took the electric launch to the south entrance of the Manufactures Building. A big crowd of curious women and men had been waiting in the Spanish pavilion for several hours, and they were rewarded for their patience by a good view of the Princess. The exhibits of Spain were seen burriedly, and chairs were then taken through the big building to the lake shore, where stands the Span-1sh Building, which is a partial reproduction of the Hall of Contract, in Venice, built in 1486. Senor De Lome made a speech in Spanish, greeting the Infanta and conveying regrets at her departure from Chicago. This ended her last day at the fair. Her return to the city was made in the yacht Greyphone. In the evening, at the Palmer, the Infanta gave a dinner to twenty-four guests, and the good-byes were said over champagne. The roya! party will be escorted to the railway station by two troops of United States cavalry, at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, and will take a special train on the Lake Shore road for Niagara Falls.

In an interview with Mayor Harrison after the dinner was over, this evening, the Princess expressed the great delight she had taken in seeing the fair and in seeing Chicago. She wished she could remain for a month longer to study the exposition. "I wish, too," she said, as the Mayor was leaving, "that I could see Chicago thirty years from now. It is a great and beautiful city now, but in thirty years more it will be the grandest place on earth." As Mayor Harrison took his leave the Princess presented him with a cigarette holder of beaten gold, ornamented with a crown of diamonds and having a ruby and emerald clasp. The Mayor in return gallantly brought forth as a souvenir which shall remind Eulalie of Chicago, his book describing his travels around the

The Midway Plaisance will not be closed Sundays, whether the rest of the fair is or is not shut up. On the contrary, it will hereafter be very wide open. The concessionaires have won the fight with the exposition authorities, and the latter have promised to give the exhibitors on the Oriental thoroughfares such support that their places will become the feature of the fair. The officials have come to realize that the best interests of the Midway managers is money in the treasury of the exposition company, and some great improvements to the advantage of the Plaisance were decided upon to-day. An awning is to be built over the l'laisance to protect visitors from rain and excessive heat, and it is to be lighted every night. All the barbarians and savages of the Plaisance are going to parade Saturday morning. Each variety will have its native band, and all will be dressed in the costumes of their native

The Javanese village was opened to the public to-day, and during the afternoon a large number of people passed through the gates and viewed with interest the little people from Java. When the snow was flying in Chicago last winter the manager of the village arrived here with 120 of the little people, and since that time one has succumbed to the raw winds of the northlands and is buried in a Chicago cemetery. Others have borne up remarkably well and the laborers and carpenters have worked hard to complete the village. The changeable weather of Chicago has not agreed with them and they have not been able to work all of the time. The result is that the opening of the village has been postponed from day to day until the manager opened the doors to the White City visitors to-day. The 120 natives of Java are in a good location on the Plaisance, and the queer architecture of their village attracts more than its quota of attention. The South sea islanders gave a performance in the theater erected for them the first time to-day. The costumes of the South sea islanders is exceedinly brief and their performance is exactly the same as is given in their native village. There are twenty-five of the tronpe. It is expected that this number will be increased later in the season.

The Germans and German-Americans are going to celebrate next Thursday. It has been designated as German day, and it is expected that at least 200,000 Germans and German-Americans will visit the fair. The day has also been called Indiana day and arkaness day, and the State buildings of those States will be dedicated at that time. These events will probably bring 50,000 people extra, and, with the every day visfair there will be near 500,000 people on the grounds. Ex-President Harrison is to be the orator of the day for Indiana, Carl Schurz for the Germans and Governor Fishback for Arkansas. The department of admissions is making preparations for the arrival of excursion trains at the terminal station, and to-day a squad of ticket sellers and gatemen were ordered to report for work at those gates Thursday morning. It is believed that, beginning with next week, the railroads will start a string of special, regular and excursion trains into Jackson Park, and officials are making arrangements on that belief.

Auditor Ackerman made a statement to the financiers of the world's fair to-day that almost took their breath away. He told them that the salary list for May reached the enormous total of $850,000, and that more than six thousand employes were on the pay roll for that period. There was a general exclamation that the running expenses were at least $400,000 a month too high, and the announcement was made that Director of Works Burnham had decided to drop three thousand men from the rolls this week.

There was an immense crowd at the fair to-day, and, with the additional crowd which came out to see the night electrical display, the bureau of admissions estimated the paid attendance at 100,000. The weather appears to be settled for the summer, and the world's fair managers are confident of the financial success of the enter-

Dangerous Break in a Louisiana Levee-The Mississippi Still Rising.

NEW ORLEANS, June 14 .- A break occurred at 10:30 o'clock last night just below the oil mill in Baton Rouge, and at midnight it was twenty feet wide and washing fast. The levee is a high one, and unless the break is closed at once it may be impossible to close it. The Illinois Central railway will send up a special train to the scene, at 1 o'clock this morning, with men and materials, and they hope to close it. The break is on the left bank of the river, and, if it is allowed to widen, will cause great damage, as the water will follow the track of the famous Bonnet Carre and Nita CTEVASSES.

The river has reached the high-water mark of 1890, and a further rise of six inches is expected. Hard work is being done on the lower Mississippi levees. The Wylie crevasse is over a mile wide. An appeal for help has been received from East Carroll, where five thousand people have been affected by the floods, and many of them are destitute.

LYNCHING IN VIRGINIA.

STAUNTON, Va., June 13 .- William Shorter, colored, who has been confined in jail here since May 7, for security, charged with attempted rape upon the person of Mrs. Clevenger at Winchester, Va., was this morning delivered by Sheriff Watts to Sheriff Adam Forney and his guard to be taken to Winchester for trial. When Shorter left the jail his fellow-prisoners said to him: "Look out for Winchester; you will never get there alive." This prediction was verified in a few hours. When the train reached Kernstown, four miles this side of Winchester, a body of armed upmasked men boarded the train, took Shorter from the sheriff, and taking him to the woods hung him up and riddled his body with bullets. Shorter was nineteen years old.

Supreme Council of the Royal Arcanum. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 13 .- At the meeting of the Supreme Council of the Royal Areanum to-day the question of the reinstatement of suspended members was discussed at length. The result was that the law was changed so that they may come in as new members, without initiation fee, by a dispensation from the supreme regent. Among the minor matters acted upon were the bonds of officers. The law was changed so that these bonds may be placed in any indemnity or fidelity company, instead of only in the fraternal Indemnity Union, as heretofore. The bylaws were changed so that subordinate councils may nominate officers one week before the election. The committee on laws reported this afternoon an amendment to the constitution, establishing the office of auditor.

Condition of Winter Wheat, CHICAGO, June 18. - The Farmers' Review has received reports from correspondents in twelve States regarding the condition of winter wheat. The Review to-morrow, in a summary, will sag:

"The condition of winter wheat has improved greatly in the last few days but will fall far short of a good crop. In Illinois the improvement is very noticeable. but so much of the area of wheat has been destroyd that some counties will get little benefit from the improvement. Some correspondents report that nine-tenths of the wheat acreage in their localities has been abandoned. The improvement has continued in Indiana and Ohio. In the latter State the outlook is good."

An Enemy of Union Labor, CHICAGO, June 13 .- At to-day's session of the International Union President W. B. Prescott appointed a committee composed of Mesers. Corcoran, of Salt Lake City: Rooney, of Toledo, and Seagraves, of Washington, D. C., to prepare a protest against the appointment of C. W. Edwards, of Wilmington, Del., as Public Printer. Later the rules were suspended and the proposed protest was taken up. The discussion waxed very warm and finally resulted in the adoption of a resolution condemning the appointment. It was resolved to telegraph a copy of the resolutions to Presi-dent Cleveland. Edwards, it is alleged, is an enemy of union labor.

RIOTS IN EUROPE.

Socialists in Prussia, and Miners in Hungary and Bohemia Dispersed by Soldiers.

BERLIN, June 13.- The Social Democrats mobbed a campaign meeting in the town hall in Klausthal, Prussia, this evening As the local police were unable to stop the rioting the troops were called hastily from Goslar. They dispersed the Social Democrats after a short struggle, in which several policemen were knocked down and many rioters received slight wounds. Riots are reported from Fuenfkirchen.

The cause of the trouble is that the military and police are driving strikers and their families from the houses which the men have rented from the colliery owners, although in most cases the rents had been paid up to date in many, even for a month to come, the authorities served upon the strikers notices to vacate their premises within forty-eight hours. These notices caused hostile demonstrations which were especially threatening in the colonies of the foreign born miners. Most of the men who had paid rent regularly refused to give up their houses peaceably, and therefore were hunted from their homes. Those who took refuge with neighbors living in houses owned by the companies were driven out into the fields where they were compelled to sleep with their wives and children without covering or shelter. Men who tried to return home or to incite resistance against the troops were pursued by hussars. Some were ridden down, others were slashed with swords. Dozens of women and children have been wounded in the encounters. The ringleaders in the riots have been manacled and imprisoned.

More than eight thousand coal and iron miners are on strike near Kladno, Bohemia. The police and two companies of military yesterday attacked the strikers with sabres drawn. Thirty or forty rioters were cut, some so severely that they had to be carried from the spot by their fellow-workmen.

Slow Work on the Home-Rule Bill. LONDON, June 13 .- The House of Commons to-day passed the third clause of Section 1 of the Irish home-rule bill. The debate on this clause commenced on May So, and has continued ever since. The House will next proceed to discuss Clause 4. which deals with the powers of the proposed Irish legislature to deal with certain religious matters, the rights of life and property and corporate and fishing rights. The clause just accepted by the House treats of the matters in respect to which the proposed Irish legislature shall have no power to make laws.
